

Are you one of the millions of men in this country who suffers from an enlarged prostate?

- Do you need to urinate frequently?
- Do you often have to get up at night to urinate?
- Is it difficult to start urinating?
- Do you have a weak stream?
- Do you feel that your bladder is not completely empty?

If you answered YES to some of these questions, you may have an enlarged prostate, also called BPH.

Instead of quietly enduring prostate problems, you could be part of the solution.

We are currently conducting a clinical research study for men with urinary symptoms of an enlarged prostate. We are studying whether an investigational medication could reduce these symptoms.

You may be eligible to participate if you are at least 50 years old, experience some of the urinary symptoms listed above, and have no serious health problems. Qualified participants will receive all study-related physical exams, laboratory services, and study medication at no cost. Financial compensation will be provided for your time and travel.
